Letter to Mr. & Mrs. Hitt
Amendment

Narrative:

1. Crestview College Preparatory High School is proposing to add a dropout recovery program to the existing instructional model available at Crestview College Preparatory High School in order to provide for expanded opportunities for students to achieve a high school diploma.

The goal of Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program is to ensure that students who are disengaged from school have an avenue to re-engage with their education and to continue to make progress toward high school graduation with structured support and mentoring. The dropout recovery program is available to Crestview College Preparatory High School's students age 16 and older who have not been in school for 30 or more days and/or who are unable to attend Crestview College Preparatory High School's standard academic program. Students who have not previously been enrolled in Crestview College Preparatory High School will be evaluated for eligibility in the program on a case-by-case basis.

Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program will provide students with curriculum aligned to the Arizona standards adopted by the Arizona State Board of Education. All students in the dropout recovery program will have access to tutoring provided by Crestview College Preparatory High School's teachers. Students with disabilities enrolled in the dropout recovery program will have access to special education and related services. Students will be required to participate in applicable state and district standardized tests to meet the requirements of the program. A student participating in the dropout recovery program may graduate with a high school diploma once the student meets the state requirements for graduation established by the State Board of Education.

Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program will require sessions with an assigned mentor every two weeks. The mentoring sessions will provide an opportunity for students to meet with their mentor, set short and long-term goals, review the written learning plan, and to work towards obtaining skills needed for post-secondary success.

In addition to bi-weekly mentorship meetings, students will be provided access to career and college counseling, activities, and courses. The student's assigned mentor will collaborate with the student to develop an Education Career Action Plan (ECAP) and ensure the student is making progress towards post-secondary goals on a regular basis.

Students participating in Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program are eligible to re-engage as a regular, full-time student at any time throughout the year, but will remain in the dropout recovery program for the remainder of the school year in which they transfer to the school's standard program. This is to ensure that the students continue to receive strong support and mentoring while transitioning back into the standard on-campus academic program.

The following outlines Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program:

Student Eligibility and Requirements:

Students age 16 and older who have not been in school for 30 or more days and/or who are unable to participate in the school's standard academic programming.

Students must complete an enrollment packet and interview prior to being accepted into the program.

Students must participate in an introductory mentoring session and develop a written learning plan to become enrolled in the dropout recovery program.

Students must participate in bi-weekly mentoring sessions with their assigned mentor in order to remain enrolled in the program.

Students must demonstrate satisfactory progress towards goals outlined on the Written Learning Plan in order to remain enrolled in the program.

Any student is eligible for the dropout recovery program, including students with disabilities.

There are no fees associated with Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program.

Student Mentor:

Each student in the dropout recovery program is assigned a mentor trained in developing Written Learning Plans, Education Career Action Plans (ECAP), and providing academic and post-secondary planning support.

The mentor will assist the student in designing a Written Learning Plan, Education Career Action Plan (ECAP), and tracking student progress.

The mentor will provide bi-weekly mentoring sessions in person, via phone, or online.

The mentor will ensure that the student is making satisfactory progress to meet the requirements of the Written Learning Plan and ECAP on a monthly basis.

The mentor will track student participation, progress, and continued eligibility for the dropout recovery program and submit documentation to the district program coordinator on a monthly basis or as required.

Written Learning Plan:

The Written Learning Plan for each student participating in the dropout recovery program will be developed by the student and assigned mentor. A student enrollment interview and thorough credit analysis will be the basis for this plan.

The Written Learning Plan will include the following elements:

- A. The start and end date of the plan. Each plan will be written for a minimum of the current academic year.
- B. Courses to be completed by the student during the academic year
- C. Whether courses will be taken sequentially or concurrently
- D. Expectations for satisfactory monthly progress in assigned courses
- E. Expectations for contact with student mentor
- F. Any state or district exams to be taken during the school year

Curriculum and Instruction:

Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program will provide students with curriculum aligned to the Arizona standards adopted by the Arizona State Board of Education. Students will be required to participate in applicable standardized tests to meet the requirements of the program. A student participating in the dropout recovery program may graduate with a high school diploma once the student meets the state requirements for graduation established by the State Board of Education.

Students will be provided with the following opportunities to earn credit toward graduation while participating in Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program:

- 1. On-site direct instruction courses taught by highly qualified teachers
- 2. Computer-based education courses (on-site or offsite) taught by highly qualified teachers
- 3. Work study credits
- 4. Community volunteering

Students participating in the dropout recovery program will have access to tutoring, college and career counseling, and other academic supports available to all students at Crestview College Preparatory High School. Students with disabilities will have access to special education and related services as outlined in their Individual Education Program (IEP) or Section 504 Accommodation Plan.

Satisfactory Progress

Satisfactory Progress in Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program is measured monthly. Progress must indicate that if continued for a full twelve months the student would earn the same amount of academic credit as a student in a traditional education completes in a full school year in order for the student to remain in the dropout recovery program.

Transition to Standard Academic Program:

A student participating in Crestview College Preparatory High School's dropout recovery program may re-engage as a regular, full-time student at any time throughout the year. The assigned mentor will continue to monitor student progress and update the Written Learning Plan until the end of the current academic year.

2. Crestview College Preparatory High School seeks to re-engage students in their education who have dropped out of the standard education program and provide a pathway to earning a high school diploma for those that cannot participate in Crestview College Preparatory High School's standard program. The purpose of adding an additional component to Crestview College Preparatory High School's current programming is to reach more students and enable a greater number of students to achieve a high school diploma.
3. The addition of the dropout recovery program closely aligns with the mission of Crestview College Preparatory High School. Crestview College Preparatory High School is classified as an alternative school and as such serves young people for whom traditional schools have not been effective and predictably will not be in the future. The majority of students at Crestview College Preparatory High School meet one or more of Arizona's criteria for granting a school an alternative status. That is, they have behavioral issues, have dropped out or are likely to drop out, are pregnant or parenting, have a history of academic failure or have been adjudicated. It is the specific mission of the school to serve such students and the dropout recovery program will expand upon this mission to reach a greater number of students.
4. The target population of the dropout recovery program are youth that have disengaged from their education in all settings for a minimum of 30 days. The addition of a dropout recovery program at Crestview College Preparatory High School will improve student achievement by increasing engagement, course completion, and graduation rates for the target population. By providing an avenue for academic success outside of Crestview College Preparatory High School's current instructional program with support from a dedicated mentor, it is anticipated that students will re-engage in the standard academic program at Crestview College Preparatory High School.
5. The target timeline for implementing the dropout recovery program is the spring of 2017 with a full roll-out of the program anticipated for the 2017/2018 school year.
