Description of changes

Change From:

Pima Partnership High School Mission Statement - Revised The mission of Pima Partnership Charter High School, an Advanced-Ed Accredited high school, is to provide a rigorous, differentiated educational programs, credit recovery, extended day, and technology-enhanced instruction for "at risk" youths. Students who have a history of behavioral problems, weak attendance, poor academic performance, insufficient academic credits to graduate, dropouts, and those who have societal struggles of family responsibilities and adjudication are provided a curriculum that meets Arizona's College and Career Ready Standards in the core content areas of Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies. This is accomplished within a safe, supportive environment leading to a high school diploma and preparation for success beyond graduation.

Change To:

New Program of Instruction: The Pima Partnership School is dedicated to teaching the Arizona College and Career Ready Standards in mathematics, language arts, science, social studies and the arts with a commitment to serve each student with a program that is sensitive to the whole student: academic, physical and emotional. The goals of Pima Partnership School include targeting at risk children and their families with a comprehensive instructional and support program that offers a unique educational opportunity in the urban Tucson area. Pima Partnership School is founded on the premise that the most important subjects in school are the students themselves. The school embraces the at risk student in an uniquely upbeat and enriched atmosphere, based on career and a lifelong vision and concepts of service back to the community through consultation and cooperation with community partners. The ultimate goal is to expand the knowledge, develop the potential, and widen the vision of all students, so that they become positive, responsible, productive, effective and compassionate citizens of the world. The Pima Partnership School will provide a holistic, integrative approach to the learning process, using an integrated curriculum.

Change To

1. New Program of Instruction: The Pima Partnership School is dedicated to teaching the Arizona College and Career Ready Standards in mathematics, language arts, science, social studies and the arts with a commitment to serve each student with a program that is sensitive to the whole student: academic, physical and emotional. The mission of Pima Partnership Charter High School, and Advanced-Ed accredited charter high school, is to provide rigorous, differentiated educational programs, credit recovery, extended day, and technology-enhanced instruction for "at risk" youth. Students who have a history of behavioral problems, weak attendance, poor academic performance, insufficient academic credits to graduate, dropouts, and those who have societal struggles of family responsibilities and adjudication are provided a curriculum that meets Arizona's College and Career Ready Standards. This is accomplished within a safe, supportive environment leading to a high school diploma and preparation for success beyond graduation. The goals of Pima Partnership School include targeting at risk children and their families with a comprehensive instructional and support program that offers a unique educational opportunity in the urban Tucson area. Currently many schools evaluate and label these students and address their education primarily through medical manipulation or segregated resource setting. This decision usually manifests itself by simply lowering the expectations for the student. There is little attention to the needs of the whole child in an appropriately enriching environment that prepares students for life outside of the system. Pima Partnership School is founded on the premise that the most important subjects in school are the students themselves. The school embraces the at risk student in a uniquely upbeat and enriched atmosphere, based on career and a lifelong vision and concepts of service back to the community through consultation and cooperation with community partners. The ultimate goal is to expand the knowledge, develop the potential, and widen the vision of all students, so that they become positive, responsible, productive, effective and compassionate citizens of the world. The Pima Partnership School will provide a holistic, integrative approach to the learning process, using an integrated curriculum. Students will:

- Express opinions, attitudes and feelings that take into consideration the welfare of the school as well as local, regional and global communities;
- Apply a variety of critical thinking and problem-solving skills to solve problems, make decisions and evaluate the reasonability and morality of such solutions;
- Demonstrate a willingness to consider and appreciate different ideas and cultures and accept people impartially regardless of sex, race, nationality or religion;
- Communicate effectively in a variety of forms and situations;
- Act consciously and take responsibility for their behavior, actions and decisions;
- Demonstrate a love for self and others through caring, cooperative and service-oriented behavior;
- Exhibit a desire to acquire knowledge and use it creatively and meaningfully to enhance the understanding, well-being and happiness of self and others; • Commit to a philosophy of success in work/career is a foundation for success in life. Our rationale for targeting this group is based on the founder's immediate, professional and personal experience with this specific clientele's and community's general dissatisfaction with the area's schools' approach to serving this unique population. Pima Partnership School is committed to address these known concerns with a small student-teacher ratio, dedication to comprehensively serving a unique population, high expectations of student achievement, and a close attention to communication/workplace skills. The founding group's vision and goals focus on having each student regardless of perceived abilities, become prepared to effectively continue a successful life and contribute to society after high school graduation. 2. Rationale for the change in Program of Instruction: The rationale for changing the program of instruction is that we have realized from research based strategies that new ways of teaching the at risk students were needed to continue our success. 3. The changes to the Program of Instruction align to the educational philosophy in the original charter application by using current educational research to determine best teaching strategies to address at risk students. 4. The change to the Program of Instruction will take place immediately upon approval by the Governing Board and the Charter Board.
